Why I Volunteer

I volunteer because our family is part of the Mulgrave community (and you can always belong to more than one community). I volunteer because I feel it is an important example to set for my daughter. Like many parents, I work full time and by volunteering my time with various school events and external charities, I have had the chance to learn so much and develop some amazing friendships – some since Kindergarten and some very recently. I also volunteer because I know everyone can use an extra hand, whether it's a teacher who many need some extra support in the classroom or assisting students with various projects/field trips, or events at the school.

My involvement is only possible with my husband Farid and Mikkah's support. They know that it is important to me that Mikkah understands why I volunteer and hopefully can see the impact it has on the Mulgrave community. For those who know me, they know I thoroughly enjoy it!
