

Global Outreach - Eastern Canada Trip 2010

Daily Report - Day 1

Our trip has finally begun! We started off in the wee hours at the Vancouver Airport and arrived safely in Montreal with all of the students still intact and, thankfully, no lost baggage. We enjoyed an evening meal at Reuben's Deli in the heart of Montreal. Most students ploughed into mile high smoked meat sandwiches or massive bowls full of pasta. We also had the pleasure of four Mulgrave Alumni joining us for supper, including two former head students who are now studying at McGill.

After supper we headed to the Notre Dame Basilica and were treated to a sound and light show highlighting the Cathedrals 180 year history. The students commented repeatedly about how impressed they were with the artistic style and grandeur of the building.

Following the presentation we braved the blustery weather for a 15 minute walk back to our hotel. Amidst the wind and snow and minus 10 degree weather, we found our way home and were off to bed.

The 6:45 am wake-up call will come quickly. We look forward to a full day tomorrow as we explore McGill and head for Quebec City.
